SHORT BIO (50 TO 80 WORDS)

The Odette Park Trio is a Minneapolis piano trio led by pianist and composer Odette Park, with Marcus Dray on bass and Eli Tarn on drums. Together since 2014, they play clubs, concert series and festivals across the Upper Midwest, and work as a polished acoustic trio for private events. Their third album, Small Hours, Large Rooms, came out in 2026.

FULL BIO (150 TO 250 WORDS)

Odette Park grew up in St. Paul playing church piano on Sundays and her father's Bill Evans records the rest of the week. She studied composition, spent six years as a side player in Chicago, and came home in 2014 to start a trio with bassist Marcus Dray and drummer Eli Tarn. The lineup has not changed since.

The trio plays Park's originals alongside standards and a handful of Korean folk songs she has rearranged for the group. They have held the second-Thursday slot at The Birch Room since 2019 and have released three albums, most recently Small Hours, Large Rooms (2026), recorded live to tape over two days.

PRESS QUOTES

"Park writes melodies you can hum on the way home and harmonies you will still be untangling a week later."

North Loop Jazz Letter, album review

"Twelve years with the same three people, and you can hear every one of them. They breathe together."
